

A transformation is applied to the black grid and the house.

The red grid is the image of the black grid and P is an invariant point.

Draw the image of the house and describe the transformation.

